Academic Standards Advisory Committee (ASAC)

The Academic Standards Advisory Committee (ASAC) is a standing committee organized by the Office of Undergraduate Education and chaired by the Academic Standards and Policy Specialist. Its membership is comprised of selected representatives from across the campus community who serve on the front line of support in assisting students on matters of undergraduate academic policy. ASAC representatives are considered to be the formal liaison between their respective units and the Advisory Committee.

The purpose of ASAC is to meet in a structured group setting to share opinions and perspectives on a broad range of issues, with a focus on undergraduate academic policy. The formal charge of ASAC is to meet at least twice per semester to:

- Share and discuss critical issues involving undergraduate academic policies, practices and procedures
- Periodically review current policies, practices and procedures to ensure a uniform understanding across the campus community
- Periodically review current policies, practices and procedures to ensure that students are fully supported via processes that are accessible, efficient and do not duplicate efforts
- Make recommendations to the Academic Standards Executive Committee (ASEC) via the ASAC chair when new policies and/or significant changes to existing policies are deemed necessary
- Make recommendations to the ASEC via the ASAC chair when new practices and procedures of undergraduate academic policies are deemed necessary
- Assist the ASEC upon request, in the development, implementation and communication of new undergraduate academic policies and procedures
